changed. Strength, increasing gradually as the day wore on and culminating in positive buoyancy, characterized the share speculation on New York 'Change yesterday. The volume of business was large compared with recent averages and the dealings were unusually well distributed, although Sugar and St. Paul overshadowed any other individual stocks in extent of trading. The initial stimulus to the market was received from London, whence general advances in the prices of American stocks were reported, and from the execution of liberal arbitrage buying in this market for foreign account. The purchases extended to the usually less active securities. The speciarthe dealings, while the rallway shares received a fuil measure of attention. This fact was regarded as decidely encouraging, especially as the high-priced properties were in favor. The market also reflected the appearance of adroit bull leadership in the regulation speculative stocks. Realizing sales on a large scale were noted at intervals but the strength of the market was tervals, but the strength of the market was unimpaired and the highest figures of the ay were recorded at the close. Sugar as-umed the leadership of the market in every respect, and although the transac-tions in the stock were the dividend of 3 per cent., it rose to within a slight fraction developed aggressiveness on the reported improved trade outlook. Lacka-wanna advanced 2½. Delaware & Hudson 1%. New Jersey Central 1½ and Reading 1½ er cent. The last mentioned stock was ealt in second assessment paid and buched 15%. Lead preferred was concluded us a rise of 3½ per cent. over the strecorded sale. Metropolitan Traction eaded the usually inactive class with a per cent., respectively, on a revival of the rumors of impending strong opposition. The advances in the general market ranged from 1 to 3 per cent., with the grangers iguring for 1% per cent., the last in Buronds were decidedly strong, with quite umber of issues traded in. Reading innes were dealt in second assessment paid and scored substantial improvements. The aggregate sales were $1,746,000. Mr. McKee Made No Threats.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal; When I was in Indianapolis on Saturday last I read an article in your paper issued on the Friday or Saturday immediately preceding my visit. In the article in question it was stated that Mr. McKee had put the road in the hands of a receiver if my duty, not only to myself, but to the Citizens' Street-railroad Company, to say that the article in question was false in every particular. Mr. McKee has never, to my knowledge, threatened to have a recelver appointed for the Citizens' company, and, in my judgment, it would be entirely out of his power to do so, even if he had the desire. The directors who were elect-ed at the annual meeting, which was held on the 12th day of May, had been selected and agreed upon at a conference in this city more than five weeks before the date of the election. SMALL TRADE IN WHEAT

AFTER 1 1-4C JUMP MARKET WEAK-ENED AND CLOSED 3-8C LOWER.

Disappointing Cable News Responsible for Weakness-Corn Unchanged and Provisions Down.

CHICAGO, June 15 .- The nervous feeling of the local wheat market was shown toprime, $1.70@1.80; fancy, Kentucky, 14 lbs, $1@ day when July jumped 11/4c on a few buy$1.50; red top, choice, 80c@$1.50; English blue grass, 24 lbs, $1@1.50. sea shipments. The closing was at a %c loss. Corn closed unchanged, oats 1/2c lower and provisions unchanged to 5c lower. A very moderate speculative trade was noted, the market ruling slow and dull at times, within the range of 15,61%c. Everything was against the market at the start in the way of news and statistics, and a decidely weak sentiment was soon created, which finally carried the price off 14c from the close Saturday. The world's shipments were unofficially reported at 8,-434,000 bu, those from the Black sea being placed at 5,296,000 bu, the total being largely in excess of the week's requirements. Liverpool was quoted 1d lower, domestic markets were all weak and declining, and the Northwest receipts were heavy. Business was light and narrow, and there was more or less hesitation growing out of the July rumors and the sharp reductions which have taken place during the past few days. So, in the absence of support and the lack of bull news, the trade office of Marion county, Indiana, for the twenty- dragged and prices declined. The differfour hours ending at 5 p. m., June 15, 1896, as | ence between July and September widened, however, and at one time there was a full cent. When the final figures on the visible came in, showing that the decrease had been only 66,000 bu, when nearly 2,000,000 had been expected, there was a very heavy tone and decline of fully 1½c from Satur-day's figures, but reacted some on good buying by shorts to secure profits. July opened about %c lower, at 56%56%c, sold to 56%c, fell to 55%c, and reacted to 56%c. The market had a sharp and sudden spurt during the last half hour, and July sold up to 57%c. The advance could be traced to nething but the receipts of a few buy-ing orders, the filling of which led to a there was a rush of shorts to cover. A reaction soon set in, however, which carried July back to 56%c, the closing being easy Corn held its own remarkably well in the face of the early weakness of wheat and the continued prospects of another big crop. The opening was rather weak with wheat, but a fair demand was manifest, and the advance in prices caused by the wheat bulge was well maintained. July opened about 1/4c lower, at 271/2c, touched 271/3c, and closed steady at 271/3c.

Oats were slow and rather inclined to steadiness. July opened 1/3c lower, at 171/4c, advanced to 171/3c on covering by shorts, but weakened again and closed easy at the opening price. In provisions, under the influence of large run of hogs, opening prices were weak and lower. Later the demand improved somewhat, and, with less pressure to sell, a stronger feeling was developed, with some rally in prices, the closing being steady. July closed 5c lower, at $7.12% July lard unchanged at 4.12½c; July ribs, .02½c lower, at 3.85c.

What Some Democrats Will Do.

Sheep slow. Market unchanged.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: In an editorial of the 11th inst. the Journal says: "There is room for speculation do if the free-silver men control the Ch! cago convention." In reply permit me to say that thousands of sound-money Democrats in Indiana will never vote for the the Chicago convention declares for free coinage we propose to vote against the nominee of that convention and be true to our convictions and the cardinal principles of Democracy, as handed down to us by its illustrious fathers. No Democratic national platform has ever declared for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, or attempted to foist upon the people an act of repudiation. Many Democrats will do as they did in 1860, when the perpetuity of our free institutions was at We do not love our party less, but our country more, and we propose to stand for that which is honest and for that which is true. We are partisans, but when the integrity of our country is in jeopardy when prosperity, progress, civilization and honesty are to be sacrificed to this silver moloch, we demur and ask to be counted

MOUNT FOR GOVERNOR.

A Candidate Who Should Receive the Support of All Agriculturists.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: Allow me to make an appeal to the farmers of Indiana in behalf of Hon, James A Mount. Being a farmer myself, I am interested in their progress and welfare. It shall be my purpose in this article to give some well-defined reasons why the farmers of Indiana should take great pride in supporting the Hon. James A. Mount for Governor. There was a time, as we all know, in the years gone by, when to be known as a farmer was sufficient to stamp a man as an ignoramus or a "hayseed." The term "farmer" was one of ridicule and derision. But to be known as a farmer to-day is an honor. There is no class of people to whom Indiana owes a greater debt of gratitude than to the farmers. They have done as much, if not more, for the development and progress of the State than any other class of people. By the sturdy arm and invincible courage of our forefathers the "forest primeval" has been cleared away and the dismal swamps have disappeared. The zeal and energy which characterized them have been transmitted to their sons and daughters. As an evidence of the progress and intelligence of the farmers of to-day witness the development of the vast agricultural resources of the State. There is no man in Indiana who has done more for the development of this great industry and for the education and elevation of the farmer than James A. Mount. His life has been spent in their behalf. His success has been phenomenal. half. His success has been phenomenal. There is, indeed, an inspiration to the young farmers of Indiana in his life and success upon the farm. Like many of the great men of our Nation who have come from the farm, he began life with the humblest surroundings, but he was deter-mined to build for himself a home in Indiana. Starting as a renter, leasing forests and clearing them with his own hands for the crops, and by using honesty and good judgment, he soon began to accumulate, and to-day, as a practical and scientific farmer, he has few equals. His success upon the farm stands as an inspiration. His beautiful home is a well-nigh ideal one. Not only by making a brilliant success of his own business has he contributed to the progress and welfare of the farmers, but a great deal of his time during all these years has been devoted to lecturing before farmers' institutes in nearly every county of the State. Mr. Mount's speeches on this line of work have been of inestimable value to farmers. His valuable and instructive articles that have appeared in the agriculpapers of the State have widely read and highly apbeen preciated. The fact of his lectur-ing each year before the agriculture students of Purdue University is an evidence of his great ability as an instructor. Mr. Mount, in 1894, was chosen orator on Farmers' day at Chautauqua, N. Y. His speech there was a masterly production.

While engaged in the promotion of agriculture and seeking to bring into closer harmony all the business pursuits, professions and enterprises of the State by showing their mutual independence, he has always taken a keen interest in the development of the literary and social attainments ment of the literary and social attainments of the farmers. Being a scholarly and cul-tured man, he has seen the necessity of disseminating literary thought and culture among the farmers. He has organized farmers' reading circles all over the State, whereby the sons and daughters of the farmers may get ideas that will inspire them to higher and nobler purposes in life. In his own neighborhood he has always helped to maintain a literary society for the education of the farmers. Mr. Mount may be called the champion of good roads in Indiana. There is nothing of greater importance to the farmers Indiana than good roads. Yesterday I heard him speak at a "good roads" meet-ing in Hendricks county. The commissioners, trustees, and supervisor of the county are trying to devise a plan to im-prove the roads. Mr. Mount, being president of the Indiana Highway Improvement Association, was invited to speak upon this subject. His speech showed that he is thoroughly conversant with the road sysems of the State. It contained many practical and instructive suggestions which no doubt will be acted upon by the county

Thus, while Mr. Mount is distinctly a farmer, he has done more to dignify and nonor the term than perhaps any other man in Indiana. Is it not significant that in the closing year of the nineteenth century he should be chosen as the standard-bearer of one of the great political parties of In-diana? His nomination for Governor was a great victory and the farmers of Indiana ought and have a right to rejoice over it. His candidacy should appeal to their intelligence and pride. It is a great privilege to have the opportunity of elevating to the high office of Governor one of our own rank. Mr. Mount is not running as the farmers' candidate. Having broad and comprehensive views of all the industries, comprehensive views of all the industries, pursuits and professions, he will make a Governor "of the people, by the people, and for the people." Coming from the masses of the people, he is a truly representative man. Mr. Mount was a brave, intelligent, patriotic soldier, and is a true, upright. Christian gentleman in all relational in the soldier. ons of life. He is affable and courteous tions of life. He is affable and courteous in all his deportment and dilligent and persevering in effecting his purposes. The future history of Indiana is unwritten. The State's possibilities of development are almost beyond conception. At the dawn of the new century the history of the closing years of this decade will have been written. In the annals of this period I hope there will be written as one of the shining lights and greatest Governors of Indiana the name of James A. Mount.

Morton and the Women. Washington Post.

Secretary Morton is a believer in the intellectual superiority of women. He says that he has a practical demonstration in his own family, for his sister, Miss Morton, is in every respect superior to himself, and could do everything he does better than he can do it. He says, too, that the civil-service examinations in connection with appointments to positions in the Agricultured Department have shown that women candidates usually pass better examinations than men and do their work equally well, if not better, when they are assigned to similar duties. The last civil-service examination held in that department was to se ure two men assistants in the library. There were thirty-eight candidates. There were men, and eight were women, who were not invited to participate but were allowed to come in and take their chances. The thirty men failed. The eight worken passed and the two that stood 'dighest were appointed, although the free and unlimited coinage of silver. If advertisement announcing the examination expressly stated that none but male can-didates wou'd be considered eligible.
